Congratulations on purchasing your Kramer VA-10 Cable Delay Corrector, which is ideal for the following typical applications:

- Using long cable runs of analog video
- Correcting relative color shifts in RGBHV systems

2 Getting Started

We recommend that you:

- Unpack the equipment carefully and save the original box and packaging materials for possible future shipment
- Review the contents of this user manual
Use Kramer high performance high resolution cables.

Go to <http://www.kramerelectronics.com> to check for up-to-date user manuals, application programs, and to check if firmware upgrades are available (where appropriate).

Caution: No operator serviceable parts inside the unit

Warning: Use only the Kramer Electronics input power wall adapter that is provided with the unit

Warning: Disconnect the power and unplug the unit from the wall before installing

2.1 Achieving the Best Performance

To achieve the best performance:

- Use only good quality connection cables to avoid interference, deterioration in signal quality due to poor matching, and elevated noise levels (often associated with low quality cables)
- Avoid interference from neighboring electrical appliances that may adversely influence signal quality
- Position your Kramer VA-10 away from moisture, excessive sunlight and dust

3 Overview

The Kramer VA-10 Cable Delay Corrector is a cable delay (skew) corrector for RGB signals. The unit is designed to correct the problem of differing delay times in analog signals, such as RGB, or twisted pair signals that causes misconvergence on the display. The VA-10 lets you adjust and thus match the delays in the three signals. The VA-10 features controls for adjusting the red, green and blue skew (delay) individually and independently. It is 12V DC fed and is housed in a Kramer TOOLS enclosure.

For example, if the RGB was sent via a CAT 5 cable at some stage during the video processing, then the different lengths of the pairs within the CAT 5 cable create different delays (skewing) of the R, G and B.

3.1 Defining the VA-10 Cable Delay Corrector

This section defines the VA-10.

4 Connecting the VA-10

Always switch off the power to each device before connecting it to your VA-10. After connecting your VA-10, connect its power and then switch on the power to each device.

To connect the VA-10 (as the example in Figure 2 illustrates), do the following:

1. Connect a computer graphics source to the XGA INPUT of a PT-110 XGA Line Transmitter and connect the LINE OUTPUT on the PT-110 to the LINE IN RJ-45 connector on a TP-120 XGA Line Receiver unit. Connect the XGA OUT connector on the TP-120 unit to the 15-pin HD (F) INPUT connector on the VA-10.
Refer to the PT-110, WP-110, TP-120 user manuals that can be downloaded at <http://www.kramerelectronics.com>.
2. Connect the 15-pin HD (F) OUTPUT connector on the VA-10, to the RGB acceptor (for example, a projector).
3. On each of the VA-10, TP-120 and PT-110, connect the 12V DC power adapter to the power socket and connect the adapter to the mains electricity.
4. Use the BLUE, RED and GREEN trimmers to adjust the blue, red and green color delays, as required.
