- This unit will not support future additional telephone services.
- This unit cannot support services based on the "DTMF based subscriber line protocol".

4.5.1 How Caller ID is displayed

When an outside call is received, the calling party's telephone number or name will be displayed. You then have the option of whether or not to answer the call.
The unit will automatically store caller information (telephone number, name, date and time of the call) of the last 30 (base unit)/50 (handset) callers. Caller information is stored by the most recent to the oldest call. When the 31st (base unit)/51st (handset) call is received, the oldest call is deleted.
Caller information can be viewed on the display one item at a time (page 35) or confirmed by printing the Caller ID list (page 95).

Note:
- When caller information is received and it matches a telephone number stored in the unit's phonebook:

10.1.2 Additional base units

Handsets can be registered to up to 4 base units, allowing you to add additional base units and extend the area in which your handset(s) can be used. If a handset moves out of range of its base unit when "Auto" is selected on base unit selection (page 73), it will look for another base unit to make or receive calls. Each base unit forms 1 radio cell.

Note:

- Calls will be disconnected when the handset moves from one radio cell to another.
- Intercom calls and call transfers are only possible between handsets in the same radio cell.

Dr. P.M. Cundall,
Mining Surveys Ltd.,
Holroyd Road,
Reading,
Berks.

Dear Pete,

Permit me to introduce you to the facility of facsimile transmission.

In facsimile a photocell is caused to perform a raster scan over the subject copy. The variations of print density on the document cause the photocell to generate an analogous electrical video signal. This signal is used to modulate a carrier, which is transmitted to a remote destination over a radio or cable communications link.

At the remote terminal, demodulation reconstructs the video signal, which is used to modulate the density of print produced by a printing device. This device is scanning in a raster scan synchronised with that at the transmitting terminal. As a result, a facsimile copy of the subject document is produced.

Probably you have uses for this facility in your organisation.

Yours sincerely,

Phil.

- For proper paper feeding and best print quality, we recommend using long-grained paper.
- Do not use paper of different types or thickness at the same time. This may cause a paper jam.
- Avoid double-sided printing.
- Do not use paper printed from this unit for double-sided printing with other copiers or printers. This may cause a paper jam.
