About USB 3.0 and USB 3.1 Gen 1

USB 3.0 is also known as USB 3.1 Gen 1. This connectivity standard offers speeds up to 5 Gbps.

Installation

Install the network adapter
1. Turn on the computer that you're connecting the network adapter to.
2. Use an RJ-45 Ethernet cable to connect the network adapter to your computer.
3. Connect the network adapter to an available USB port.

Note: If you connect to a USB 2.0 port, performance may be limited.

Install the driver on a computer running Windows
1. If the Found New Hardware dialog box appears on your screen, close the dialog box or click Cancel.
2. An executable file will load, which you can use to install the driver. Follow the on-screen instructions to complete the installation.

Note: If the driver for the network adapter doesn't install automatically, you need to manually install the driver. For more information, see the instructions below.

Manually install the driver
1. To download the latest driver, navigate to www.startech.com and enter USB31000S2H in the search field.
2. Click the Support tab.
3. Download the driver.
4. When the download is complete, extract the contents of the compressed file that you downloaded.
5. Double-click the appropriate driver for the version of the OS that you're running and follow the on-screen instructions to complete the installation.

FCC Compliance Statement
This equipment has been tested and found to comply with the limits for a Class B digital device, pursuant to part 15 of the FCC Rules. These limits are designed to provide reasonable protection against harmful interference in a residential installation. This equipment generates, uses and can radiate radio frequency energy and, if not installed and used in accordance with the instructions, may cause harmful interference to radio communications. However, there is no guarantee that interference will not occur in a particular installation. If this equipment does cause harmful interference to radio or television reception, which can be determined by turning the equipment off and on, the user is encouraged to try to correct the interference by one or more of the following measures:

- Reorient or relocate the receiving antenna.
- Increase the separation between the equipment and receiver.
- Connect the equipment into an outlet on a circuit different from that to which the receiver is connected.
- Consult the dealer or an experienced radio/TV technician for help

This device complies with part 15 of the FCC Rules. Operation is subject to the following two conditions: (1) This device may not cause harmful interference, and (2) this device must accept any interference received, including interference that may cause undesired operation. Changes or modifications not expressly approved by StarTech.com could void the user's authority to operate the equipment.

Industry Canada Statement
This Class B digital apparatus complies with Canadian ICES-003.
Cet appareil numérique de la classe [B] est conforme à la norme NMB-003 du Canada.
