Battery Tips

Battery life depends on the network, signal strength, temperature, features, and accessories you use.

• Always use Motorola Original batteries and chargers. The warranty does not cover damage caused by using non-Motorola batteries and/or chargers.

MOTOROLA ™ ORIGINAL

• New batteries or batteries stored for a long time may take more time to charge.

• When charging your battery, keep it near room temperature.

• When storing your battery, keep it uncharged in a cool, dark, dry place, such as a refrigerator.

• Never expose batteries to temperatures below -10°C (14°F) or above 45°C (113°F). Always take your phone with you when you leave your vehicle.

• It is normal for batteries to gradually wear down and require longer charging times. If you notice a change in your battery life, it is probably time to purchase a new battery.
♻ Contact your local recycling center for proper battery disposal.

Warning: Never dispose of batteries in a fire because they may explode.

Before using your phone, read the battery safety information in the "Safety and General Information" section included in the gray-edged pages at the back of this guide.

Using a Bluetooth® Wireless Connection

Your phone supports Bluetooth wireless connections. You can set up a wireless link with a Bluetooth headset or handsfree car kit, or connect to a computer or hand-held device to exchange and synchronize data.

Note: Your phone's Bluetooth features and Bluetooth Class 1 power levels are not allowed for outdoor operation in France. To avoid unlawful interference with radio signals, do not use the Bluetooth features in France unless you are indoors.

Turning Bluetooth Power On or Off

The preferred method for connecting your phone to a Bluetooth headset or handsfree car kit is to turn on Bluetooth power on your phone, then connect your phone to the headset or car kit.

To turn Bluetooth power on:

Find the Feature /−\ > Settings > Connection
> Bluetooth Link > Setup
> Power > On

This procedure turns Bluetooth power on and leaves it on until you turn it off. When your phone's Bluetooth power is on, your handsfree accessory can automatically reconnect to the phone when you turn on the accessory or move it within range of the phone.

Note: To extend battery life, use the above procedure and set Bluetooth power to Off when not in use.

Searching for Other Devices

To connect your phone to a Bluetooth headset or handsfree device:

Find the Feature 　　　／–＼ > Settings > Connection
　　　　　　　　　　　　　　　　> Bluetooth Link
　　　　　　　　　　　　　　　　> Handsfree
　　　　　　　　　　　　　　　　> [Look For Devices]

If Bluetooth power is turned off, your phone prompts you to Temporarily Power On? the Bluetooth power setting. Press YES (∪·／) to proceed. Alternatively, set Power to On in the Setup menu to turn Bluetooth power on and leave it on.

Your phone scans for and displays a list of device(s) located within range of the phone.

Note: If your phone is already connected to a device, you must disconnect from it to search for other devices.

To connect to a device, highlight the device name and press SELECT (∖·∪).

The device may request permission to bond with your phone. Select YES (∪·／) and enter the correct PIN code to create a secure connection with the device. When the connection is made, the Bluetooth indicator ✷ displays in the home screen, and the external Bluetooth LED indicator flashes.

Sending Objects to Another Device

You can use a Bluetooth wireless connection to send a picture, sound, video, phonebook entry, datebook event, or bookmark from your phone to another phone, computer, or hand-held device.

Sending a Picture, Sound, or Video

Highlight the object on your phone that you want to send to the other device, then press $\int-\diagdown$ > Copy.

Select a recognized device name listed in the Object Exchange menu, or [Look For Devices] to search for the device to which you want to send the object.

Sending a Phonebook Entry, Datebook Event, or Bookmark

Highlight the item on your phone that you want to send to the other device, then press $\int-\diagdown$ > Send.

Select a recognized device name listed in the Object Exchange menu, or [Look For Devices] to search for the device to which you want to send the item.

Troubleshooting

If you have questions or need help, we're here to help.

Go to www.motorola.com/consumer/support, where you can select from a number of customer care options. You can also contact the Motorola Customer Support Center at 1-800-331-6456 (United States), 1-888-390-6456 (TTY/TDD United States for hearing impaired), or 1-800-461-4575 (Canada).

Specific Absorption Rate Data

The model wireless phone meets the government's requirements for exposure to radio waves.

Your wireless phone is a radio transmitter and receiver. It is designed and manufactured not to exceed limits for exposure to radio frequency (RF) energy set by the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) of the U.S. Government and by the Canadian regulatory authorities. These limits are part of comprehensive guidelines and establish permitted levels of RF energy for the general population. The guidelines are based on standards that were developed by independent scientific organizations through periodic and thorough evaluation of scientific studies. The standards include a substantial safety margin designed to assure the safety of all persons, regardless of age or health.

The exposure standard for wireless mobile phones employs a unit of measurement known as the Specific Absorption Rate, or SAR. The SAR limit set by the FCC and by the Canadian regulatory authorities is 1.6 W/kg.[1] Tests for SAR are conducted using standard operating positions accepted by the FCC and by Industry Canada with the phone transmitting at its highest certified power level in all tested frequency bands. Although the SAR is determined at the highest certified power level, the actual SAR level of the phone while operating can be well below the maximum value. This is because the phone is designed to operate at multiple power levels so as to use only the power required to reach the network. In general, the closer you are to a wireless base station, the lower the power output.

Before a phone model is available for sale to the public in the U.S. and Canada, it must be tested and certified to the FCC and Industry Canada that it does not exceed the limit established by each government for safe exposure. The tests are performed in positions and locations (e.g., at the ear and worn on the body) reported to the FCC and available for review by Industry Canada. The highest SAR value for this model phone when tested for use at the ear is 0.89 W/kg, and when worn on the body, as described in this user guide, is 0.58 W/kg. The SAR value for this product in its data transmission mode (body-worn use) is 1.24 W/kg. (Body-worn measurements differ among phone models, depending upon available accessories and regulatory requirements).[2]

While there may be differences between the SAR levels of various phones and at various positions, they all meet the governmental requirements for safe exposure. Please note that improvements to this product model could cause differences in the SAR value for later products; in all cases, products are designed to be within the guidelines.

Additional information on Specific Absorption Rates (SAR) can be found on the Cellular Telecommunications & Internet Association (CTIA) Web site:

http://www.phonefacts.net or the Canadian Wireless Telecommunications Association (CWTA) Web site:

http://www.cwta.ca

1. In the United States and Canada, the SAR limit for mobile phones used by the public is 1.6 watts/kg (W/kg) averaged over one gram of tissue. The standard incorporates a substantial margin of safety to give additional protection for the public and to account for any variations in measurements.

2. The SAR information includes the Motorola testing protocol, assessment procedure, and measurement uncertainty range for this product.
