HOW TO ACTIVATE YOUR TALKING PORTRAIT ANIMATED ROOM ALARM

To switch off, move the switch to the OFF position.

Hang the Talking Portrait Animated Room Alarm on the wall or place on a desktop by your door. Make sure to use a sturdy wall hanger as unit is heavier than a normal picture frame. If you want to set the unit on your desk or dresser, extend the easel stand on the back of the frame until it is stable.

When the unit is in the TRY ME mode, it only will work if you press the gold button located in the center bottom on the front of the frame. To "activate" the motion sensor, move the switch on the back of the frame to the ON position. The Talking Portrait can detect motion within a range of four feet in front of the frame. When an unwanted guest tries to enter into the room, she will respond by saying phrases, like "Sorry, no password, no entry," or "I see you," to scare them off! The Talking Portrait will say three phrases in a row and then "SLEEP" for 30 seconds before she will detect movement and can be activated again. If you press the gold button during this 30-second SLEEP time, the system will wake up and say three phrases and pause again for another 30second interval. When the alarm is in the ON position, you can also press the gold button located in the center bottom on the front of the frame to make her talk at your command. While she is talking her mouth and eyes move and the stars twinkle in the background.

IMPORTANT NOTE: The sensor may take a few seconds to start up in a normal indoor area when either the reset key is pressed or the batteries are replaced. The start up time will be longer if the room is dark. The sensor will not function during this time.

If the unit becomes erratic, press the RESET button to reset the unit
